

STICKER PRINTING GUIDE

A simple guide for turning your finished K9 sticker design into stickers you can hand out and enjoy.

Your sticker design is ready!
You will receive a high-resolution file that can be uploaded to the sticker printer of your choice.

1. Choose a Sticker Printer

Two companies I personally use are Sticky Brand and Sticker Print Go. Both frequently offer specials, so I recommend comparing the current deals before ordering. Sticker prices can vary quite a bit from one sale to another - shopping the specials can make a big difference.

2. Choose Your Size & Quantity

A 2.5-inch die-cut sticker is a great all-around size for K9 handouts: large enough to show the artwork clearly, but still easy to hand out at events. Choose the quantity that makes sense for you. If this is your first order, you may want to start smaller before purchasing a large batch.

3. Upload Your Finished File

Upload the high-resolution sticker file provided to you. Select die-cut (or the printer's equivalent custom-shape option) if you want the sticker cut around the design. Use the printer's online preview or proof to make sure the artwork, border, and cut line look right.

4. Check the Proof Before Ordering

Before you submit your order, take one last look at the preview. Check the K9's name, agency or organization name, social media handle, and any other wording. Also make sure important artwork is not too close to the cut line.

5. Watch for Deals!

This is my biggest sticker-printing tip: you do not always have to pay the regular listed price. Sticker companies run promotions often. If one company's price seems high, check the other printer or wait for a special before placing a large order.

A Note About Printing Companies

Sticky Brand and Sticker Print Go are simply companies I personally use and recommend. Estie's Besties is not affiliated with either company. Prices, promotions, products, and ordering options can change. You are welcome to have your sticker design printed anywhere you choose.

Print it. Share it. Spread the K9 love!
